LogiPack and LogiFeed attracted considerable interest among trade visitors.

Kranzberg - Under the motto “Passion for Solutions,” the international intralogistics world gathered in Stuttgart from March 11 to 13 at LogiMAT 2025, the international trade fair for intralogistics solutions and process management. After three days of presentations, information, and trend checks, the trade audience, exhibitors, and trade fair management gave a positive assessment.

LogiMat 2025 was also a complete success for Müller Apparatebau GmbH. In addition to the two LogiPack systems, LogiFeed also attracted great interest among trade fair visitors. LogiPack, a flexible and efficient packaging solution, and LogiFeed, the automated document feeding system, show how companies can optimize their logistics processes. The live demonstrations of the products attracted many trade visitors, who were impressed by the functionality and user-friendliness of the systems.

“We are thrilled with the positive feedback we received at the trade fair. The numerous interesting discussions and exchanges with trade visitors and industry colleagues showed how important innovative solutions are for the future of logistics,” said Josef Flörs, Director of Sales & Services at Müller Apparatebau GmbH.

Kern was also represented at the trade fair again this year with an information stand to present the award-winning PackOnTime2box multi-format packaging system. A wide variety of original samples were on display, and extensive information material and a functional model were also available.
